

Introduction of Lisa Haen

(HAEN is pronounced like CRANE with an "H")

Read to introduce Lisa's Presentation

Lisa Haen is the founder of Culture Inside Out, a consulting firm focused on leadership development and team training systems.

Lisa works with leaders who want to improve team performance, make work life more manageable, and position their organization as the best investment choice for talent, investors, and clients.

Her extensive work in the gas and electric industry inspired Lisa to design the Culture Agility® model using integrated behavioral science to build foundational competence and strengthen core skills that fuel stable growth.

When she's not working with clients, Lisa can be found on the water in her kayak, cultivating veggies in her garden or dancing in the kitchen while pretending to be a Food Network chef.

Are you ready for the Culture Inside Out experience!!
